Speaker Bio

Stephanie teaches her clients to use introspective Self-Healing techniques. What makes her unique is being an inquisitive self-taught student of Philosophy (Human Thought), Nutritional Science & Kinesiology (Human Advancements). In addition to her intellectual pursuits, Stephanie is highly intuitive.

Stephanie graduated from Ventura College with honors in 2014, acquiring two associate’s degrees in Holistic Health Studies & Natural Science with a minor in Kinesiology. She completed training as a 200-hour Yoga Teacher in 2014 and received certification in Reiki III Energy Healing in 2016. Stephanie is currently pursuing an undergrad program at Arizona State University, working towards a bachelor’s degree in Nutrition, a minor in Health & Wellness Coaching, which will be complete in late 2021.

She began offering coaching services after completing the research for her book, The Art of Balance (in a World of Chaos). After a decade of inquiry into the secret art of whole-person healing, she felt the need to share her knowledge with the world. She created her Holistic Lifestyle Coaching & Optimal Wellness Program based on her research and the teachings of Holistic Health at Ventura College. Since then, she has coached hundreds of individuals and inspired thousands of people with her motivational speaking & event creation. Stephanie calls herself “Love Warrior” – the deepest message she shares with her clients is her primary purpose in life.

“Self-love is the key to transformation in our healing journey.” – Stephanie

Please check out Stephanie’s website and YouTube Channel for an example of her speaking engagements. In addition to being a motivational speaker, Stephanie is a facilitator, intuitive guide, and coach. She is available to do in-person or online presentations in the Western Region of U.S.
